

TYOLOGY OF PURCHASING BEHAVIOR

Brata Anca-Monica

Abstract

Under the circumstances of the current Romanian life, consumer is being opened wide possibilities to chose. But consumer 's freedom to choose is influenced by how big his budget is and also by how high the prices of the goods he wishes to acquire are. Most of the goods are not for free, they can be obtained only by sacrificing something else in return, generally this sacrifice referring also to some goods